

MEDIA ALERT

MEDIA INVITED TO ATTEND / COVER

Contact: Daniel at ###-### or e-mail address

March 25, 2009

Church sponsors free Big Bunny Party for local children

Jacksonville, Fla. – Christ's Church Mandarin is throwing a party – a Big Bunny Party that is! Held April 4 from 9 to 11:30 a.m., the Big Bunny Party is a time for local children to enjoy an Easter egg hunt and many other activities.

The church, which is located at 6045 Greenland Rd., near Philips Highway and 9A, is sponsoring the event that will include egg hunts, free pictures with the Big Bunny, inflatable games, candy, multi-media presentations and more.

“We are excited to offer this event to connect with families in our community in a safe, family-friendly way,” said Jim Howard, Family Minister at Christ's Church. “Our goal is to provide fun for children of all ages.”

Egg hunts will begin every half hour and be organized by ages so that all children can enjoy the fun. The Big Bunny will share his adventure through a multimedia presentation starting at 9, 9:30, 10 and 10:30 a.m. The show lasts around 20 minutes and will entertain people of all ages.

“Those attending should definitely plan to come for a show,” Howard said. “It's the highlight of the event.”

Children can also have their photo taken for free with the Big Bunny. A link to download the photo will be e-mailed to their parents after the event. No one will be contacted without permission.

Attendees can RSVP ahead of time and find more information on the event's site, www.bigbunnyparty.com; an RSVP is not required.

For more information on Christ's Church, visit www.CContheWeb.com.

###